Whether you learned the game playing for pennies with friends, or in a retail casino, there is no card game more recognizable than blackjack. There is beauty in the game's simplicity, and blackjack translates perfectly to the internet. There are several different versions offered online that range from the basic single hand blackjack, to multihand blackjack to games with sidebets that pay extra for certain outcomes like getting dealt two red queens or 3 card 21. No matter what version you play, Caesars offers a flawless blackjack experience with minimum bets much lower than those found in a retail setting.

You do not bypass the Caesars app location. This feature ensures that all players meet the legal requirement of being within Michigan state lines in order to place any bets.

Finishing off the pro sports with the Tigers and Major League Baseball, your futures options at Caesars Sportsbook are over/unders for every team's regular season win total, and selecting division and overall league champs and the World Series victor. Interestingly enough, Caesars didn't offer futures for individual awards during the 2020 baseball season. We'll keep an eye out as to whether that was due to the shortened season or if that will be the plan going forward.

For gamers on the go, the mobile apps are a great option to play on the go, on the couch, or pretty much wherever you want to play. The Caesars mobile app is basically a shrunk down version of the desktop online casino. All deposits, withdrawals, customer service, and most games are available on the mobile app, just as they are on the computer version. The mobile app loads quickly and we have had no connection issues or dropping out problems when operating on both WiFi and data connections. The mobile app is able to pick up your location easily using the GPS chip in your phone, so no other apps are necessary.

This means that every time you play at any Total Rewards brick-and-mortar casino, and every time you wager online, you'll earn loyalty points on the same account. Credits come in the form of tier credits and online reward credits.
