Normally, you are not obliged to opt into the bonus and promotional offers, and there's a good reason for this. Always ensure that you thoroughly read through the terms and conditions. This ensures the bonus/promotion is the right one for you. While at it, look for important information such as:

WR are represented as an x(number), i.e., x10, x25, x30, x50 etc. as a factor of the bonus amount. Different online casinos have varying WR for their bonuses. However, the figure usually ranges from as low as x10 up to a high of x50. Best online gambling sites tend to offer reasonably low and achievable WR as compared to brands that use this to disqualify or lockout other players. It is also worth noting that different games contribute differently towards meeting the WR.

From the above table, Winward Casino with a WR of x20 bonus money requires you to spend at least 20 times the bonus amount to redeem the cash. For instance, if you've been awarded a $100 bonus, you'll have to wager $2000 in real cash to withdraw or be able to use the bonus amount. The good thing about our listed online casinos is that their WR are within industry standards. Some brands have high figures of up to x70 the bonus amount.

Like anything in today's world, online casinos have their fair share of advantages and disadvantages. The good news, however, is that the pros of playing online outweigh the cons. In fact, most of the disadvantages associated with online casino gaming can easily be avoided when you have discipline. Most of these shortcomings arise when people start misusing casino gaming and develop problematic gambling disorders. The outstanding pros of playing at the top online casinos include:

It is the main disadvantage associated with online casino gaming and can have adverse effects on your personal life, affecting both your finances and relationships. People suffering from compulsive gambling may lie to those closest to them to cover up for their behaviour. The lies are mostly meant to get cash from friends and relatives to satisfy the urge of gambling. If not treated, compulsive gambling is worse than alcoholism. Luckily, there are organisations dedicated to handling such cases, including Victorian Responsible Gambling Foundation and Gambling Help Online.

One of the top priorities at the best online casino sites is to ensure all their members gamble responsibly. As such, they tend to have several responsible gambling tools in place to enforce this. From setting bet limits (daily, weekly, monthly and yearly limits), to self-exclusion and dedicated help channels, these tools are accessible to any player who may feel a need for using them.

It's obvious that you cannot control the outcome of the next spin of the roulette wheel or where the cards will fall. However, you can stay keen and observe some basic tips, which ensure you stay within the winning limits. These basic tips mostly revolve around understanding the basic game rules and terms that affect your playing session. Some of these tips include:

Since there are different categories of casino games, the house edge is bound to vary from one game to another. Yet, despite the variation in house edge, there are those offering players a better chance of winning. Blackjack, baccarat and poker are games with a relatively low house edge. Due to the level of skill required while playing these games, and the control that you have over the moves you make, these games offer you a good chance of winning.

It's worth mentioning that the house edge is just one of the factors affecting the outcome of a game. While it's important to give it a priority when picking a game, you'll also have to consider other factors such as the RTP, volatility (especially when it comes to slots) and hit frequency. All these factors combined determine how often and how much a casino game pays out.

Majority of players waste their money buying strategies with fancy and sophisticated names and fail to observe the mother of all strategies – basic bankroll management.

Bankroll is simply the amount of money that you plan on spending while at the casino. A bankroll management strategy, therefore, dictates how much you have to stake for each bet wagered. As a rule of thumb, to improve your chances of winning while playing at the top-rated Australian Casinos, your bankroll has to last for at least 20 bets. If you, therefore, have a budget of $100, each stake has to be equivalent to $5.

Citing the famous Interactive Gambling Act, passed on 28 June 2001 and enacted on 11 July 2001 by the Australian Government, players aren't banned from participating in any form of gambling. It is up to the operator to carry the cross of offering their services to interested Aussie players and by no means the players themselves. Overall, it's not illegal to play online, and you have a free hand to play at any one of the best online casino sites.

IGA refers to online casino operators. The Act was formulated to prevent online casinos from operating from within the country. It further prevents online casinos from advertising their services to Australians. It, therefore, means that if you'd like to access online casino services, you'll have to seek the services from an offshore brand. Since the Interactive Gambling Act doesn't state whether it's legal or illegal to play the games online, Australians can comfortably enjoy casino games without fear of prosecution.

Australian players can easily and legally access any legitimate and reputable offshore-based online casino. There are more than 150 brands that you can pick from – a diversity meant to ensure every player's taste and preference is met.

However, before signing up at any such casino, you need to know how to respond in the event of losing your personal or financial information, or if the casino fails to pay out your winnings. This is very important because you are not eligible for protection from local laws. This is why you should visit only licensed and regulated offshore online casinos. Such licensing bodies include the UK Gambling Commission (UKGC), MGA, Government of Curacao among many others.
