Below you'll find a few aspects we always consider before adding casino apps to our shortlist:

The variety of online games is key to a player's enjoyment, and apps shouldn't offer anything less than their desktop counterparts. Our recommended casinos offer a range of slots, table games such as blackjack and roulette, live dealer games and much more, from a number of top software providers.

Bonuses and promotions provide an extra boost to your bankroll when online gambling, and of course that includes using casino apps too. We always keep an eye out for the biggest and best casino app offers of the moment, like no deposit bonuses, and make sure there are no complicated playthrough requirements.

We know how important security is when choosing an online casino app. If a casino doesn't have a legitimate license and use encryption to protect players' personal data, it certainly won't find its way to our shortlist.

We ensure that our top-rated apps offer a variety of different banking options, so you'll be able to make quick and easy deposits and withdrawals using a method that suits you. Along with the usual options such as Visa, MasterCard, Neteller and PayPal, you'll find newer methods like Bitcoin too.

Securing a big jackpot is an exciting thrill for players, but you don't want to be waiting days to receive your funds. Our recommended casinos won't delay in processing your withdrawal requests and will have your winnings to you in no time.

There really is little difference in the player experience between the best casino apps and mobile games. It's ultimately down to your personal preferences, but you will not lose out on bonuses or games variety with either option. All the main titles and variants will be covered, and will load at a good speed.

Installing casino apps should be a straightforward process. There's just a couple of steps to get you playing, which may vary slightly depending on your device. Here's a quick guide for installing:

If you already have a profile with the casino online, you can log in to the app straight away. If it's your first time, you'll need to sign up and give some basic information about yourself to create an account. To play for real money, link up your preferred payment option at the cashier.

Swipe through the games lobby and select the game type and particular variant you would like to try out. You can play for free at first until you get the hang of the game if you prefer.

The increased strain on the eyes from staring at a screen for too long can cause headaches and irritability. It may also cause you to make mistakes in your gameplay, causing frustration and disappointment. Take regular breaks.

Betting large amounts regularly only increases your risk of losing more cash at one go. If you bet small amounts, you will be able to place more bets and play for longer, while spending less money.

While casinos do their utmost to protect you and your information, they cannot protect against breaches coming from the internet connection you are using. Only play when you are using internet connections you trust.

If your phone runs out of battery or your tablet switches off in the middle of a big game that you are winning, you won't be able to restore that gameplay and the lost winnings. Look after your device.

Fortunately, the process is made much easier by the fact that virtually all of the best online casinos also have a mobile offering for their customers to use. In the vast majority of cases, players looking to get their first taste of mobile gaming can simply stick with their usual casino.

Yes, when you gamble on online casino apps you have exactly the same chances of winning real money as you would do in a real land-based casino. The more you're prepared to stake, the higher those jackpots are likely to be.

There is a huge range of different casino apps available right now, but deciding which are best is really a matter of personal preference. The ones we've rated highly all offer things we know are important to online gamblers, such as fast payouts, great bonuses, slick graphics, and great customer service. All that remains to be seen is which of our top rated apps you prefer!

These days casino apps are so advanced, there are very few casino games that you won't be able to find. Rest assured that all your favorites will be available, from awesome table games to epic mobile slots. For those who prefer not to download any software to their devices, the option of a web app for games such as poker still allows you easy access to your favorite games.

Yes. Most free casino apps will allow you to use the same account from your mobile device.

Sometimes they'll drop you an email to notify you that your account has been used from a different device, which is a nice touch to make sure that no one is logging into your account without your authorization.

Being able to use a single account is very convenient for players as it means that, if they happen to be on a roll playing a particular slot on their laptop, they can keep that roll going after they leave the house just by firing up their smartphone.

An increasing amount of online casinos are quickly developing their mobile offerings to incorporate live dealer games, so if you look hard enough, or even on this page, you'll be able to find live dealer games for your mobile and tablet device.

Many smartphones have small screens which are not ideal for making the most of the live dealer experience. However, many live casino apps have live dealer games optimized for tablet devices, which suits the apps better.

Provided you're playing with a reputable casino (and we'll never recommend anything else), you're just as safe using online casino apps on your mobile or tablet as you are on your desktop, Mac or PC.

All of the bank grade security that the best casino sites use to protect your personal information also applies in a mobile casino games app, so you can rest assured that you'll only lose money because of bad luck and nothing more sinister.

Regardless of which app store you use, you should always make sure that any software you download or access from your personal device is safe and secure. All the sites we recommend here can be trusted, and you can also check out our list of sites and apps to avoid.

Yes, you have the option to play for real cash, or try free games, when you use a casino app. We always recommend players try out new games for free first to make sure you don't waste any of your own money if it's not the game for you. Once you've tried out a few games, you might find you prefer the experience and thrill of real money gambling.

Social gaming apps, be it a puzzle game or social casino, are a hit due to their casual nature. By playing on social media, you can become part of a community and connect with friends. A popular example you may have seen is Farmville.

It's as simple as signing up to free game apps using your existing social media account. Facebook is a typical platform for this type of play. Most social casinos offer dedicated apps too, so you can download and focus on your favorites. You can avoid using your social media account for gaming, by downloading the app and creating a separate account.
